AMERICORPS

AmeriCorps is a network of national service programs that engage Americans in intensive service to meet the nation's critical needs in education, public safety, health, and the environment.

In Vermont more than 3,800 people of all ages and backgrounds are helping to meet local needs, strengthen communities, and increase civic engagement through 34 national service projects across Vermont. Serving with national and local nonprofits, schools, faith-based organizations and other groups, these citizens tutor and mentor children, coordinate after-school programs, build homes, conduct neighborhood patrols, restore the environment, respond to disasters, build nonprofit capacity and recruit and manage volunteers. This year, the Corporation for National and Community Service will commit more than $5,500,000 to support Vermont communities through three national service initiatives. The Corporation for National and Community Service improves lives, strengthens communities, and fosters civic engagement through service and volunteering. Each year, the Corporation engages more than four million Americans in service to meet local needs through Senior Corps, AmeriCorps and Learn and Serve America.

This year AmeriCorps will provide more than 320 individuals the opportunity to provide intensive, results-driven service to meet education, environmental, public safety and other pressing needs in communities across Vermont. Roughly three-quarters of all AmeriCorps grant funding goes to the Governor-appointed Vermont Commission on National and Community Service, which in turn awards grants to nonprofit groups to respond to local needs. Most of the remainder of the grant funding is distributed by the Corporation directly to multi-state and national organizations through a competitive grants process. Other individuals will serve through AmeriCorps VISTA, whose members help bring individuals and communities out of poverty by serving full-time to fight illiteracy, improve health services, create businesses and increase housing opportunities, and AmeriCorps NCCC (National Civilian Community Corps), a 10-month, full time residential program for men and women between the ages of 18 and 24. In exchange for their service, AmeriCorps members earn an education award of up to $5,350 that can be used to pay for college or to pay back qualified student loans. Since 1994, more than 2,900 Vermont residents have qualified for AmeriCorps Education Awards totaling more than $10,100,000.¹

The commission consists of 15 governor-appointed citizens working with a staff of four housed in the Agency of Human Services. AmeriCorps is a national initiative that involves people of all ages and backgrounds in strengthening America's communities through service. CEDO's We All Belong AmeriCorps State Program – CEDO

The Community and Economic Development Office is a department of the City of Burlington. Their main tasks are focused on helping citizens and institutions in Burlington understand how the invisible barriers of race and class keep people in poverty. Programming strives to eliminate the barriers that keep people in poverty. AmeriCorps members serve in the school districts, non-profit agencies and other city departments making changes from within each institution. Member-led activities increase participation in schools, extracurricular programs, community events, summer programs, and foster a greater understanding among the community of the different ethnic groups living in Burlington. The DREAM Program, AmeriCorps State - DREAM

DREAM's mission is to build communities of families and college students that empower children from disadvantaged circumstances to recognize their options, make informed decisions, and achieve their dreams. DREAM pairs college students with children (K-12) living in public housing developments. The logo features the text "United We Serve" in a large, white, serif font, centered within a blue rectangular box. Below this, a smaller white serif font contains a quote from the President. The entire graphic is set against a dark blue background.

United We Serve

The President is calling on all Americans to participate in our nation's recovery and renewal by serving in our communities. There are many ways to get involved. America's new foundation will be built one community at a time – and it starts with you.

The Edward M. Kennedy Serve America Act (H.R. 1388) received final passage by the House on March 31, 2009 by a vote of 275-149. President Barack Obama signed the Serve America Act into law on April 21, 2009.

The Edward M. Kennedy Serve America Act is landmark legislation that charges the Corporation for National and Community Service and our partners to dramatically expand opportunities for Americans to serve, to focus on critical national issues, to be a catalyst for social innovation, and to support the nonprofit sector. The law both expands our existing programs and creates new initiatives to increase service opportunities and strengthen our civic infrastructure.

Civil rights leader Martin Luther King, Jr. recognized the power of service to strengthen communities and achieve common goals. Initiated by Congress in 1994, King Day of Service builds on that legacy by transforming the federal holiday honoring Dr. King into a national day of community service grounded on his teachings of nonviolence and social justice. The aim is to make the holiday a day ON, where people of all ages and backgrounds come together to improve lives, bridge social barriers, and move our nation closer to the “Beloved Community” that Dr. King envisioned.

GOVERNOR'S OUTSTANDING VOLUNTEER SERVICE AWARDS

The Governor's Outstanding Volunteer Service awards ceremony was held on April 26, 2009. This is an annual event sponsored by the Vermont Commission on National and Community Service (VT CNCS) that honors dedicated Vermonters, including individuals, groups and businesses that best exemplify the spirit of volunteerism and community service in Vermont. VT CNCS works to foster a culture of volunteerism in Vermont through the administration of AmeriCorps national service programs and promoting volunteer service in Vermont.

Governor Douglas is a strong supporter of community service and honors "Vermont's rich heritage of volunteers who have dedicated themselves to protecting and preserving our environment, mentoring young people, feeding the hungry, assisting the homeless, donating time and money to nonprofits, serving in local civic organizations, and countless other services." Patrick Flood, Deputy Secretary of the Agency of Human Services, also attended the awards ceremony, thanked the recipients for their service, and spoke about the importance of volunteers in this time of great need.

At the 2009 ceremony, 92 Vermonters received Outstanding Volunteer Service awards. Each award certificate is signed by Governor Jim Douglas and at the ceremony the Governor personally presents each honoree with their award in recognition of their spirit of volunteerism. Approximately 200 individuals, including family and friends of the recipients, attended this year's ceremony to honor these generous and selfless Vermonters.

Every service award recipient undergoes a nomination process, beginning with a nominator who completes a nomination form and writes a supporting essay. A panel of Commissioners from the Vermont Commission on National and Community Service then reads the nominations and makes recommendations. To learn more about this event and/or how to nominate a volunteer for a Governor's Service Award in 2010 please visit <http://vtcncs.vermont.gov>. If you're interested in volunteering in your community and you would like more information you may contact the Vermont Commission on National and Community Service at 802-241-4244.
